

SAYS KABER LIES STABBING TO WIFE

Male Nurse, Present at Tragedy, Tells of Murdered Man's Accusation

AROUSÉ BY VICTIM'S CRIES

By the Associated Press. Cleveland, O., July 11.—For a fourth time the State today in the trial of Eva Catherine Kaber for the murder of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, produced a witness who testified that Mr. Kaber declared Mrs. Kaber had him stabbed.

On entering Mr. Kaber's room, he said he found him lying on the floor, his night clothing covered with blood. "Who did this?" Utterback said he asked.

Utterback said he nursed Mr. Kaber for about six weeks prior to the murder and during that time the latter's condition steadily improved. He said he served Kaber's meals, which had been prepared by Mrs. Kaber or a maid.

Before Utterback was placed on the stand, Attorney William J. Corrigan cross-examined Mrs. Erminia Slavovic, who had testified Saturday that the examination brought out nothing new.

Re-Arrest Two Boys in Hatch Murder

Continued from Page One. Several companions were in a boat near Helair, N. J., when Hatch arrived. Hatch accused the boys of stealing an engine from one of the boats. The youngsters protested their innocence, but Hatch insisted that they were guilty. He attacked the youngsters, George was the nearest to him and he grabbed him.

He got into the boat with his companions and came over to the Philadelphia side. Knowing that suspicion would be directed toward him as well as the other youngsters, he decided to run away. He jumped a freight train and went to Buffalo. Later he went to Toronto and Quebec.

George worked every way he could to earn a living during his absence. He was employed on a vessel on the Great Lakes. He finally became homesick and began wandering back home.

On his way back he was arrested somewhere in New York State on the charge of stealing a ride on a train. He was kept in jail for five days and when he left the prison the Judge who heard his case gave him $2.50.

On July 14, Mr. Cooper said, the committee, which represents twelve Southern conferences, will place a copy of the petition in the hands of every Member and Representative.

ORDER PROBE OF TRAGEDY

By the Associated Press. Moundsville, W. Va., July 11.—Officials of Langin Field here, where five persons were killed yesterday and several injured when a Martin bombing plane crashed into a hotel, ordered a probe on the grounds, were awaiting the arrival of officers from Dayton, O., and Bolling Field, Washington, before making a statement as to the cause of the accident and fixing responsibility.

The pilots of the bomber escaped with burned face and hands, after being extricated from the wreckage by Carl Miller, coach at the Chamber College, and Sergeant Roy Duley, on duty at the local field. Duley also suffered from numerous burns in rescuing the plane, which had his hair burned from his scalp.

A revised list of dead includes Fred E. A. thirty-five, Raymond Betton, W. Va.; Carl Pettit, sixteen, Moundsville; Ralph Hartzell, eleven, Moundsville; Mrs. George Long, sixty-five, Moundsville; and Leo Morski, aged nine, Moundsville.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS ASK INVESTIGATION OF 'TRUSTS'

Agriculture Facing Bankruptcy, Says National Board Secretary

Washington, July 11.—(By A. P.)—Investigation of the operations of the Federal Reserve Board, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and "the great trusts, such as the steel, coal, credit and money trusts" was asked of a joint congressional commission by the National Board of Farm Organizations and president of the National Farmers' Union.

The commission is charged with making a general survey of agricultural conditions, and Mr. Barrett said that all of "these great aggregations of capital are engaged in operations which affect agricultural interests."

MINISTER BEATEN, BUT 'GETS HIS MAN'

National Park Pastor Acts as Sheriff's Aid, Loses Prisoner, but Finds Him Again

SEARCHED ALL NIGHT

The Rev. Elmer Finger, pastor of the National Park Methodist Episcopal Church, is receiving condolences today on the condition of his lower lip and jaw, which are puffed out to twice their natural size, but he feels satisfied. "He got his man."

This story, with its warning to all aviators who try to manhandle wearers of the cloth, opens in the camping-ground of National Park late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Finger was walking through the grove after the services, accompanied by Miss Maudie Muller, sixteen years old, whom he was taking to her sister's home. They met Rex Allen and George Keith, members of the National Park Council, and also, under the new regime there, Deputy Sheriff.

Allen and Keith had just arrested two men for alleged drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Allen, who was having difficulty in subduing his prisoner, asked the preacher to hold him while he went for help. Mr. Finger agreed, but no sooner had Allen disengaged himself from the prisoner than he struck him in the face.

Surprised, Mr. Finger loosened his hold and the man ran away. Keith, who was having his troubles with the other man, could lend no help, so that when Allen returned, there was only one prisoner.

That was the beginning of a manhunt. Mr. Finger was naturally indignant at the treatment accorded him, and a constable searched the neighborhood, town and woods, and finally, after 2:30 o'clock this morning, in the dark and fog of an unpleasant night, they found their man, his feet sticking out from under a porch on East Columbia boulevard. He was too tired and exhausted to give much fight, and the look on Mr. Finger's face discouraged belligerency. The latter accompanied him at once to Recorder Bentz, who was aroused from his bed for the hearing.

The man, who gave his name as William Gaul, and his address as Jackson street near Thirtieth, Philadelphia, was fined $10, and in default of that amount was sent to jail. When he saw Mr. Finger's jaw he said mournfully: "I must have been drunk to have hit as hard as that."

EARL OF CRAVEN DROWNS

Titled British Yachtsman Falls From Vessel at Night

Coves, Isle of Wight, July 11.—The Earl of Craven was drowned in the waters of the Solent late Saturday night or early yesterday. He disappeared mysteriously from his yacht during the night, and at 8 o'clock yesterday his body was found on the rocks two miles from Cowes. It was taken to Cowes to await an inquest.

The Earl of Craven in 1888 married Miss Cornelia Bredley Martin, daughter of the late Bredley Martin, of New York.

The Earl, who was an enthusiastic yachtsman, had taken the Solent Ledge belonging to the Hutchinsons of Ormond for the Cowes Regatta in August. He arrived Saturday on his yacht Sylvia, paid a visit to the Royal Yacht Squadron and then returned to the Sylvia. He was in his usual health and in a cheerful mood, members of the crew said. He fell overboard while sitting on the deck for a time, reading while the crew turned in.

When his valet visited his cabin yesterday morning he found the Earl's bed had not been slept in, and it was found at once that he had fallen overboard from the stern of the vessel, which had no protective rail.
